In Los Angeles there will be a great opportunity to know and compare the vast riches of the region's top quality production. From the region's flagship wine Montepulciano d'Abruzzo, the second best-selling wine in Italy, to other great wines such as Montepulciano Cerasuolo, Trebbiano d'Abruzzo, and Pecorino, visitors will find an lively range of varieties and styles that demonstrate the complexity of different territories and microclimates inside the region's boundaries, where vineyards touch the Adriatic, or glaciers, or the natural reserves of the Majella and the Gran Sasso. The Consortium will arrange a special tasting point, plus a masterclass scheduled at noon. Get ready to be surprised.

Consozio Tutela Vini del Sannio

The Consorzio Tutela vini del Sannio is an organization that focuses on the protection, the promotion and enhances the knowledge of Campania's most important denominations, the DOCG Aglianico del Taburno, the PDO Sannio and Falanghina del Sannio and PGI Benevento. The Taburno and the Matese are two imposing mountain groups that enclose the enchanting green expanse of the Telesina valley. Whoever crosses it on the way to Benevento is awestruck by this territory of hills, olive trees and dense woods. But in this landscape, the central character is the vineyard. Vines grow everywhere on the hills of the Benevento province, the principle winegrowing area of the Campania region. 3000 hectares are planted with falanghina grapes, that produces fragrant sparkling wines, elegant white wines, and complex dessert wines.
